About Hong Kong Unison:

Hong Kong UNISON, also commonly refer as UNISON, is an organisation which helps ethnic minorities in Hong Kong. One of the programmes of UNISON is to help vulnerable ethnic minority students, including the youth who have difficulties in accessing education in Hong Kong, due to the language barrier and the education system. UNISON advocates for changes in education system and helps the youth who face financial difficulties by providing financial assistance during their tertiary education. UNISON is the administrator for the Yun Lin Hu Memorial Scholarship for Ethnic Minority Students, which unfortunately has come to an end due to the funding cycle set by the funding organisation.

This scholarship programme is very important for the youth. As Memoona Khan, a top up degree student, said:

“This scholarship helped me in more than one way. I am so grateful to have received this scholarship as it has helped me to take the final step in completing my 4-year University degree. Getting this scholarship has also motivated me to work harder so as to meet the expectations set by this scholarship. It is normally very difficult to get financial support from the government. Therefore, I hope that similar scholarships can be available to other Ethnic Minority youths so that

This sentiment also echoed by MIRZA, Year 1, Diploma in Hospitality Industry, Institute of Vocational Education (IVE)

I am really thankful to Unison and the scholarship donors. I have financial difficulties but this scholarship gives me new hope and a lot of encouragement to continue my education and solves my difficulties in my daily life. So I hope this kind of scholarship will also help me in my future studies.

Therefore, we hope that you will sponsor, donate and purchase this event ticket to show your support to the ethnic minority youth in Hong Kong !
